a LOUISVILLE COURIER PRINTING COMP'Y, The Chief of Police on Salurday received a ispatch from Newton McClure, of Nashville, Tenn., stating that his slave Alex, had absconded, and was probably on the evening train of ears. Search was made for the ingitive, but he was not found, and hence it was concluded that NOS. 51 AND 53 THIRD STREET. he didn't come on that train-but he did. Yesterday morning the darkey arrived at the Louisville jail in enstody of an officer from Seyour, iud., where he was literally "caught in a bad box." Alex, says he met a white man in Nashville, Monday last, who proposed to assist him to escape Into a free State. The slave aceeded, and on Salurday the white man nailed hlm up in an ordinary sized dry goods box and had it shipped, per express, to "Mr. Johnson, t'Incinuati, Ohio." it was put through to this city in nine hours, and immediately taken over to the cars at Jeffersouville with other packages in charge of the usual messenger. At Seymonr the box was deposited on the platform at the depot for reshipment to Ciucinnati. It was stand-ing on end, when a man threw it over for the pur-The square thoughts weekly shit take a week soll through the solling and the weekly shit take a week solling and the weekly, shit months shit for three months shit. We think it highly probable, from the pre-varieation of the slave, that the Nashvillians have now an Abolitiouist "amoug them."

To-ulght the modern American comedy of Extremes will be performed, a play which has met with universal success wherever enacted .-It is a capital satire upon the follies and toibles of the day. Miss Richings plays the character of Dashing Widow Crosby, introducing Bishop's mocking bird "Aria," La Manola, and a variety of other pleasing airs. Mr. Peter Richings sustains the character of Mark Mayberry, the merchaut-and gallant and confirmed bachelor. The parts are really all what are called "character parts," and the piece is east with remarkable strength. We are pleased to learn that Mr. John T. The Billiard match contemplated between Mr. Phelan and the French champion, Berger, seems likely to be frustrated by an irrepressible vanity on the part of the latter. He desires the public of America to understand that he is not a vulgar "billiard player," but "an artiste—a man of the world—a man sought after in all our salloons, and one who receives, as pupils, the most distinguished of the nobility and gentry of the entire globe." Berger has never been braten at the Carom game-three balls-the only one he plays. His terms to come to this country are 15,000 francs for five exhibitious. THE CARSTANG-SHAW CASE ENDED .- The great

The latter yesterday sent the following commuulcation to his Honor:

Hon, T. H. Crawford—Mayor of Louiswille:— Sir: Your communication of the 12th hist, in answer to ours of the 12th, and sent in to the Council with a message, was received by one of us last night, and we regret the conclusion to which you have come, and continue to hold.

We regret it on account of the city at large.
From the best information we possess, it has bri
many years been deemed necessary to have ou duly not less than sixteen supernumerary watchmen. Your course deprives the city after tomorrow of the protection the services of such a number of officers would give, as we have no power, under the law, to appoint supernumeraries, but only to confirm or reject your nominations. It had been huped that the city could have, and certainly at this juncture it is perflous for her not to have, the services of such men as

The aunouncement that the Chancellor has, in a deliberate opinion, pronounced the Police bill to be unconstitutional and void, is received with proper deliberance. Any opinion of the Chancellor on a constitutional question, whether officially formed after argument by counsel or privately on his unaided reflections, is entitled to careful consideration. But his Individual opinion, such as the communication alluded to, is entitled to no more weight than that of other protessional gentlemen of equal standing. An opinion opposite to that of the Chancellor is entertained by professional gentlemen of equal standing with his flonor, both in and out of the Legislature.

Our able and worthy Governor will, doubtless, deeply deplore that your modesty prevented you from glying him a disquisition on on Democracy in time to avail himself of your profound and tasteful suggestions.

You say that the plain intention and only con-

You say that the plain intention and only conceivable motive of the Police bill was to give the control of the Police to the Democratic party; and that our appointment as members of the Police Board will defeat the Legislature's intention. We thank you for so candid an ayowal, that our appointment has not given and cannot give the coutrol of the Police to the Democratic party. We had hoped to prove in time by our actions that politics had nothing to do with the discharge of our official dutles, but we had not expected so soon to impress such a conviction so deeply upon your mind, that you would feel called upon to give it public and official expression. And if the failure to have Democratic control over the police should fail to advance the interests of the Democrate party, as from your language suggestively follows, we can congratulate the Democracy on the fact, that you are doing far more for their cause than we could ever hope to accomplish.

Democratic Candidate for Sheriff.

The proceedings of the Sheriff Convention in another column will inform the reader that Mr. W. A. Ellis is the nonlinee of the Democratic party for Sherill of Jelferson county. Considerable feeling was exhibited by the friends of candidates, but complete harmouy was restored by Mr. Henry Dent not only withdrawing his name, but proposing that his opponent, Mr. Ellis, receive the nomination by a unanimous vote. This was accepted with great applause, and Mr. Ellis was declared the candidate of the Convention without a dissenting voice.

The friends of Mr. Dent were undoubtedly in the majority; but many thought that Mr. Ellis to make the leaseholds of stalls advance in value to the lessees as same as other property, custom having quaranteed to lessee the first right ctables, the leascholds of stalls advance in value to the lessees as same as other property, custom having guaranteed to lessee the first right to release his stall when his lease expires; butchers and gardeners consider Preston street market one of the best in the city for selling their beef and vegetables; consequently, stalls in that market are worth from eight to ten hundred dolars each they have sold for that in the last few market are worth from eight to ten hundred doliars each; they have sold for that in the last few months. The addition of 24 stalls to said market is not building a new one; where stalls have no value, (as in Portland market) until custom is drawn to market, or the population is sufficient to support butchers and gardeners, but they are already made valuable by the exertions of the present occupants of the stalls, in old part of market; it is, therefore, no more than right that the stalls in new addition should be put up at auction, as proposed by an ordinance introduced in Board of Aldermen by Mr. Gunkle, Alderman from the First ward.

I would nownsk, Messrs. Editors, what right the Market Master, or any other city official, has to give away property of the city's, worth at least eight thousand dollars, to twelve or twenty-four men to the exclusion of perhaps a hundred applicants, equally as competent and capable to preferry all the city requires healdes awaying men to the exclusion of perhaps a hundred applicants, equally as competent and capable to perform all the city requires, besides paying a bonus of perhaps from five to cight hundred dollars for the lease. Does the amount of laxes levied yearly warrant us in believing that the city is able to give away ten thousand dollars?—Can we draw such a conclusion from the way the city pays her policemen, sometimes making them wait four months for their pay, or huve those favored few a claim upon the city that they should he rewarded with a thousand dollar stall a-plecey. It is clearly a high-handed outrage, and I trust the Committee will spare no pains to luvestigate the matter thoroughly and bring to light the corrupted and bribed parties so that the fax-paying community may know how the public treasury is occasionally robbed.

Democratic National Conventions, Since 1844.

We give below the ballotings for the Presilency in every Democratle Convention since Convention in 1544 were as loilows:

The ninth ballot was unanimous for James K. Polk, of Tennessee, a new candidate, taken up at the pleventh hour. The Convention of 1848 proceeded to ballot for President, with the following results:

It will be seen that Mr. Cass had a majority on the fourth ballot, and he was accordingly nominated by acciamation. There were forty-nine ballotings in the Con-cention of 1852, all of which it is unnecessary to give. A few will be sufficient to indicate the leanings of the Convention towards particular

On the seventeenth ballot Mr. Buchanan was nimously nominated. The two-thirds rule was uniformly adopted by these Conventions, Kentucky voring for it unani-uously on every ballot. An attempt may be made to set it aside on this occasion, to promote the nomination of Douglas.

Mayor Crawford informs the world that Chancellor Logan's letter to the Louisville Journal is a judicial decision of high anthority. By the same token, ali of the Honorable Mr. Logan's opinions on the Pope's taking possession of this country (Pond Settiements included), are decisious binding the consciences of all officials. In Texas, occasionally, the judge aunonness that "This Court will adjourn for a drunk." In such a case the opinion of the judge on the liquor imbibed would have to be regarded as an able exposition of the law until a judge of the Court of Appeals reverses it.

Mayor Crawford's letter asserts that a let ter to a party newspaper is a judicial decision, to which all Mayors, &c., should submit, but at the same time, though a ministerial officer him self, he repudiates an explicit act of the Legislature, and sets at defiance and nullifies the law of the land, and leaves this city without a suffiless claim for him that he beat Gen. Prople of Central Italy!—Your wishes are fulfilled; you are now united with my other subjects in a single monarch; your concord and perseverance have deserved this reward. It is a great blessing to the country and to eivilization. But, in order that its best fruits may be gathered, you must still persevere in those virines of which you have given so admirable an example; and above all, you must be firmly resolved to make sacrifices, without which great enterprises can neither be well accomplished nor well consolidated. I place in you that faith which you not in value reposed in me. The compact which binds as indissolubly together is one of honor towards our country and universal civilization. I never bad any other ambition save that of risking my iffe for the independence of Italy, and of setting nations an example of that uprightness by which public morality is strengthened, and the foundations of States are firmly established on liberty; and now it is my ambition to do for myself and my family, from the nations recently united, that devoted affection for which the sub-appine people are celebrated; I am ambitions to strengthen the Italians in the unantunity of those secutionents by which nations are tempered so us to bear woe, and prepare for good fortune.

You are passing up the flowery alope 1 left so long ago; Your rainbows shine thro' the drops of hope, And mine through the drops of woe.

Night gildes in its visions sweet away, And at mora you live them o'er; From my dreams by uight and dreams by day, I have waked to dream no more. You are reaching forth with a spirit glad, To the hopes that are still untried; I am burying the hopes I had, That have slipped from my arms and died.

ARTEMUS WARD, A Wedding Ceremony Suddenly Stopped.

A Wedding Ceremony Suddenly Stopped. [From the Toronto Leader.]

We have for some few days been aware of a romantic rhough rather unpleasant circumstance which lately occurred at Fort Hope, and in which a lady and gentleman, who were to become one at the altar, were arrested when the knot was partially fled, and separated from each other by the lady's mother, who is a widow.

The hovers had, it appears, been engaged for two or three months with the full confidence of the lady's guardlam and most of the leading members of the family, when her half brother, from motives unexplained, set his face against the match, informing the widow that unless she withdrew her sanction he would assume unfriendly relations towards her. This had the desired effect. The gentleman was apprised of the particulars of the case, and generously promised not to take any action in the premises that would endanger the happiness or pecuniary interests of his intended mother-in-law. Belleving, consequently, that a clandestine marriage would exonerate her from all complicity, he procured the aid of a friend, got the license privately, and nuknown to all but the necessary witnesses, &c., on Saturday night week led the young bride to the altar, a clergyman of the Church of England officiating npon the occasion.

The ceremony commenced. Solemn words had been spoken, and he plighted troth all but exchanged, when the door of the apartment was thrown open, and to flic utter consternation of the contracting parties and others, the widowed lady already named, with another person who had led her to the epot, rushed linto the midst of the group. In an Instant all was confusion. The minister was obliged to close his hook and discontinue the service; and the lady was constmined to accompany her mother, and leave the bridgeroom in uo envisible position. Before making her exit, however, she assured all present that she should marry the man of her choice, and that the interruption which had taken place was effective for the moment only.

The Widow and the Parson.

In a Latin sermon on widowhood by Jean Ranlin, a monk of Cluny of the 15th century, there is a story which Rabelaha has told again lu his own way. Rawlin's version is this:

"A widow consulted her parlsh pricet about her entering luto a second marriage. She told him she stood in need of a helpmate and protector, and that her journeyman, for whom she had taken a fancy, was industrious and well acqualitied with her late husband's trade. 'Very well,' said the pricet, 'you had hetter marry him,' and yet,' rejolued the widow, 'I am afraid to do lt, for who knows but I may find my servant become my master?' 'Well, then,' said the pricet, 'don't have him.' 'But what shall I do?' said the widow, 'the business left to me by my poor dear departed husband is more than I can manage by myself.' 'Marry him, then,' said the pricet. 'Air, but suppose he turns out a scaupp? said the widow, 'the may get shald of my property, and run through it all.' 'Don't have him,' said the priest.' Thus the dialogne went on, the priest always agreeing in the last opiniou expressed by the widow, until at length, seeing that her mind was actually made up to marry the journeyman, he told her to consult the church bells, and they would advise her best what to do. The bells were rung, and the widow heard them distinctly say, 'Do take your man,' Accordingly, she went home and married bim forthwith, but it was not long before he thrashed her soundly, and made her feel that, instead of his Inistress, she had become his servant. Back she went to the priest, cursing the hour when she had heen credulous enough to act upon his advice. Good woman, 'said he, 'I am afraid you did not rightly understand what the bells said to you.' He range them again, and then the poor woman heard clearly, but too late, these warning words, 'Do not take him, 'understand what the bells said to you.' He range them again, and then the poor woman heard clearly, but too late, these warning words, 'Do not take him, 'understand what the bells said to you

TRUE CONTENTMENT.-In this age of restlus

The Contentment.—In this age of restlessuess and wild speculation, when so many are searching eagerly for happluess, and sighing, after numerous disappointments. Who will show us any good? it is refreshing to meet with a contented Christian hearl, which has found true peace by living in conustant communion with God. In one of our exchanges, we find the following:

"Said a venerable farmer, some eighty years old, to a relative who had lately visited him, I have lived on this farm half a century. I have no desire to change my residence as long as I live on earth. I have no desire to the normal in the following of the following on the line of the property of the same people for more than forty years. During this time I have rarely been alsent from the sanctuary on the Subbath, and have never lost one communion season. I have never been confined to my bed by sickness for a single day. The blessings of God have been richly spread around me, and I made up my mind long ago, that if I wished to be happler, I must have more formal contracts.

WM. H. GRAINGER, Agent. MILL GEARING, &C. Mr. Pryor, of Virginia (Dem.),—I rise to u tion of privilege. By reterring to the Glob f this merning, I dud the following report erting to the scene which occurred here some

"Mr. Pryor advancing from the Democratic de of the House to the area where Mr. Lovey stood. The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. vej y) shall not approach this side of the se shaking his fists and talking in the way has talked. It is bad enough to be considered to sit here and hear him utter his treasonic and insulting language; but he shall not, come upon this side of the Ilouse shaking is sits in our faces.

Mr. Potter—We listened to gentlemen on the her side for eight weeks when they denounced the fiensive language. We listened to them the fiensive language. We listened to them they and heard them through; and now, sir, is side will be heard, let the consequences be hat they may.

hat they may.

Mr. Pryor—This is the point I make. Let the Mr. Pryor—This is the point I make. Let the centleman speak from his soat, and say all under the rules he is cuitiled to say; but, Sir, he hould not come upon this side, shaking his fists nour faces, and talking in the style he has talked, lie snad not come here gesticulating in a memanag and rufflanly manner.

Mr. Proter—You are doing the same thing."

Mr. Pryor—It is due to myself to say that, upon he occasion here described, I did not recognize the presence of the neurlar from Wissmein.

the occasion here described. I did not recognize the presence of the member from Wisconsin, nor did I hear any word from his lips, nor am I stagular or peculiar in that lack of recognition of his presence, for by referring to the New York journals, and those of Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other places, all of which publish seperate and distinct accounts of the allair, not a word appears in any of them of his presence, or of any word said by him. However, I find this in the Clother and I presume that I must allow that he be; and I presume that I must allow that I pepear, and did speak on that occasion. I r to ascertain, however, what he he did sa have had recourse to the manuscript of the eporters, and I find, Sir, that he had interpol ed the record touching our proceedings here nd affecting the record in a most material poin and affecting the record in a most material point. [Here Mr. Pryor pointed out the correction made by Mr. Potter, and which appeared in his own hand writing.] To his remark, "and now, Sir, this side shall be heard," he had added, "let the consequences be what they may." After a remark by Mr. Pryor, that Mr. Lovejov should not shake his fist in their faces, he had interjected, as far himself, "You are doing the same thing now." Again, he added to his (Potter's) remark, that "the Democratic side could not say where a member should speak, and they shall not say." He would now yield for the member to say whether or or not be had made these absentions.

member should speak, and they shall not say." He wouldnow yield for the enember to say whether or not he had made these alterations.

Mr. Porter, of Wissousin, (Rep.)—Mr. Speaker, I am very much surprised that the member from Virginia should say that he did not see me on the occasion alluded to; but, sir, I have no right to say, and shall not say that he did, because I, of course, cannot know it. But I stood, sir, within a few feet of the gentleman, and after he made the remarks which he has just read relative to Mr. Jovejoy, coming down in the area, and gesticulating, and shaking his fists, said, "You are doing the same now;" and I was surprised to find that I was not so reported. I did, therefore, what I suppose every member has a right to do under such circumstances. When I was conscious I had made the remark, and others on this side heard une, I corrected the report in that particular. I claimed and exercised the same right of looking over the reporters' notes, and correcting them that others have done, and I helieve the member from Virginia did the same thing; at any rate, the remarks were corrected by somone, judging from the notes I saw. It is perfectly natural to suppose that under such circumstances and during the confusion of so many speaking, the reporters would not hear distinctly every word, but gentlemen on this side heard me make the remarks as reported in the Globe.

Mr. Pryor—I did not know the member, and therefore he might have passed before my face without my noticing him. As to what he says about my correcting the report, I did in two instances substitute one word for another, in no respect changing the sense of my remarks, certainly not making it stronger or justing myself in any more heroic attitude. I understand the gentleman to say that he said then I did in a ruffianlynnd violent unanner advance towards Mr. Lovejov. [Laughter From the Republican benchestand further if he intends by that any incenace or offense. [Laughter] ense. [Laughter.] Potter-Mr. Speaker, what I meant was Mr. Potter—Mr. Speaker, what I meant was this: While the member from Virginia was charging Mr. Lovejoy, after he had left his own seat, and came down Into the area shaking his fits at Mr. Lovejoy, and was charging him so that it would go to the conntry with this same oftense, If it be an offense, I said, what was a very natural remark, "You are doing the same thing." I deprecated the shaking of first upon one side as ninch as the ofter, and I meant what I said, I stand by what I said; and, as I said before, I consider that n member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the member has a right, nuder such circle in the said before, I consider that n member has a right, nuder such circle in the said before. sider that a member has a right, under such cir-cum tances, to not only correct his remarks, but to 1 sert any remark which he knows to have been left out; and I put it in because I wanted the report to be correct. That was the only motive, and I would ask the member for a Visiting to he stands by his language. I understand him by that to give me the liberty of construing his remarks as I please.

Mr. Potter—I shall stand by my language, sir.

Mr. Pryor—I shall construe his remarks as I please, and whether or not he stands by it the sequel will demonstrate.

Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) desired to say that he heard the member from Wisconsin mes the language referred to. as reported in the e the language referred to, as reported in the BANK ROBBERY AT COLUMBUS, GA.—The Agen-y of the Marine Bank at Columbus, Ga., was susered on the night of the 9th inst., and robbed of $45,542 of the notes of various banks in scorgia and Alabama. The box from which the sere beaten are said to be severely injured. The solice did not make their all pearance until after the fight was over.

The til-teeling toward Mr. Allen, it appears, was because he had suspended the free list, and is the Bowery Boys heretofore have nlways had free access to the house, they feel aggrieved, because Mr. Allen has the courage to resist their demands. The ulfair created a great excitement on the cast side of the city, and as the gang known as the Bowery Boys and Dead Raidon have not had a chance to get up a rlot since 1857, it is feared they will embrace the pre-ent occasious to take sides in the present difficulty, and series occasious to take sides in the present difficulty, and serious consequences are apprehended.—N.

THE MARY T-, NEW ORLEANS COAST AND LAFOURCHE PACKET.—The Mary T.—, the new packet for the New Orleans, coast and Lafonrche transportation and passenger trade, is all completed. ready to start South on her first trip. She was built ended her construction from laying of the keel to the present moment, and she now rides at the wharf a complete, serviceable, stranch, and safe boat in all respects, and as staunch as wood and iron can make her. She will prove unrivaled in husiness capacity, as well as outfit and passenger accommodations, also combining an easy model and ample nower to make her commodel and ample power to make her com-pete with anything in the trade, including the Capitol, or C. D., Jr., while in business capacity she excels them. All the builders and furnishers have laken an especial pride in their several departments, having yied with each other in turning out faultless work, and Capt. Dalferes with his characteristic generosity, says he has a better boat, and got more work done than he hargained for, or was in his contracts. That speaks well for our mechanics. The outfit of the Mary T .- Is in perfect unison with all else pertaining to the boat, with nothing ex-travagant, but all selected for use and durability, as well us beauty. The cabins are furnished in as complete order as any boat in the South, with the best carpets, curtnins, oil-cloths, linens, &c., including a splendid tapestry carpet for the ladies' department, all got up in the finest style, and furnished by the famous house of Hite & Small, whose invaluable ald is required in fitting out all the fine Southern packets. The furniture, all of original patterns, and all made to order. Is from the establishment of John Simm; and Henry Wehmhoff, the best upholstere in the West, was called on to make the mattresses, bedding, &c., all of which is of the best quality. In the furnishing of the pantries, the table ware. China ware, catlery, chandellers, &c., our friends Walton & Barret were, called in, and they challenge ware. China ware, entlery, chandellers, &c., our friends Watton & Barret were called in, and they challenge comparison from any boat now running. We have seldom seen anything to surpass the articles supplied by this firm, as everything was ordered expressly for the boat, with her aame thereon plain tube seen. The silver ware is very heavy an i beantiful. The iron safe in the office, which is burglar proof, was also furnished by Walton & Barrett. Her stoves, pipes, copper work, and other degrees and the comparison of the comparis which is burgist proof, was also turnished by waiton & Barrell. Her stoves, plpes, copper work, and other outfit entire, were by Wright & Bridgeford.

The hull of the Mary T—was built by the Messes.
D. & J. Howard, the cabin and joiners' work by H.

McClaran & Co., and the engines by Inman, Gnult, & Co., all of whom deserve great credit for their skill-full workmanship. The hall is 192 feet in length, with 35 feet beam. 30 feet floor, and 8 feet depth of hold, pacily for fully 1,381 hhds of sugar. The caglues are two cylinders, each 29 inches in diameter, with 8 feet stroke, with 4 boilers, each 40 inches in diameter, and 26 feet in length. She has also a splendid doctor engine, doctor boiler, and freight hoister, all com-plete. The cabin is composed of large, well furnished staterooms, in addition to which is a nursery and servants' rooms. The pantries, wash-rooms, burber shop, &c., are well supplied with cold or hot water, by means of pipes, and the water is readily forced to all parts of the boat, a means of safety as well as cleanliness. The painting of the boat, a very superior job, was under the superintendence of Mr. Spurrier, of this

The Mary T — has been built under the supervision of Capt. C. Daiferes, who is an experienced commander, and a courteous, clever gentleman, and well conversant in all that pertains to the building and management, having built and owned many of the best and most pepular boals in the lower trade. He has havever, retired from the river, and built the best and most popular boals in the lower trade. He has, however, retired from the river, and hnilt the loost for the company. She is to be commanded by his brother, Capi. Joseph Dalferes, who is universally popular all along the coast. The boat can readily be distinguished by her tall chimneys, but particularly by the life size golden Pellcau surmonnting a sugar hogshead out he top of the pilothouse. These are embleme of the State of Louislann, the former one her control runs, and the latter is her chief readure. er cont of nrms, and the latter is her chief product.

Arrival of the Jupanese Commission. St. Joseph, April II.—San Francisco, March 31.—The U. S. steamer Powhattan, Capt. Pearson, bearing the diag of officer Tatnall, arrived on the 27th from Japan, via Honolula. She brings the Japanese Embassy, consisting of two principal ambassadors, princes of the highest rank among the nobility of the empire, and two associates, who are nobles of equal rank. These four nre of the Emperor's Conneil. They are accompanied by a suite of sixteen officers. Among them are three interpreters and fifty-two subordinates, making seventy-two in all. They bring one hundred thousand dollars to defray personal expenses, nithough the Embassy is invited at the sole expense of the United States. They were given the best quarters on board the Powhattan during the voyage, and arrived in good health and highly pleased. The chief dignitaries are magnificently dressed in embroidered silk robe, each wearing a sword of beautiful workmanship. They have conducted themselves with great dignity and propriety. The Powhattan, on the day of herarrival, went to Mare Island Navy Yard, all the embassadors remaining on board. It will take several days to overhand the vessed and take in coal, when she will sail for Panama. The cubassador will thence proceed to Aspinwall, where the U. S. steamer Roanoke is expected to be in waiting to convey them to Washington. They are so well pleased with the Powhattan that they experses a wish to have her detained at Panama to convey them back to Japan on their return from the United States. They pur-ST. By the Powhatan, advices from Japan are re-evived to February 15th.

The Government of Japan had commenced samping Mexican dollars, making them legal currency in that country, thus obviating one of the principal difficulties in prosecuting trade with foreigners.

The Powhattan arrived at Honolun, March 5th, and remained till the 18th. The Ambassa-lors were received with all formal honors. Pri-care hospitalities were extended on every hand and the pitalities were extended on every hand, and the King and Queen held court at the palace of the reception of the distinguished strangers, and welcomed them in appropriate terms. They were also entertained at a grand ball given by the officials of the Powhattan, expressing great-killeds and invest the novel seems.

The Legislature is occupied considering the San Francisco link lead bill. The centest is excelting, and attention proportionate to the vast interests involved. The State capital seems permanently located at San Francisco, $100,000 having been appropriated for the commencement of a capital binkling, which is to cost when completed $500,000. The Japanese steam corvete Condinnarrali has been in dry dock at Mare Island navy yard, and put in complete order, free of charge, Commodore Cunningham exhaining that while he had no actual authority to render this accommodation, he felt sure he was but carrying out the intentions of his Government in doing for the Japanese steamers all that he could do for an American man-of-war.

The foregoing summary of news was sent by mail eight he Interfield route on the 20th nit. The news that follows was mostly sent by yesterday's overland mail.

Rains have fallen within the week which must again obstruct transportation for a few days.

There is but little general news of interest.—The Japanese Amhassadors who visited San Francisco on the 31st ulti, have remained the honored guests of the city ever since. Two thousand dollars was appropriated from the city treasury to proour for them snitable enjoyment. All the corporation officers, members of the Legislature, and the Government of the segment like participated in the reception erromotics. Cansox City, April 4, 7 P. M.—The excitement in regard to the silver and gold mines in this region is unabated, hundreds are porning in from all parts of California. Scarcely a company who are prospecting have failed in striking rich ore where they anticipated to find it. The mineral region extends for a hundred miles in every direction, and rich discoveries have been made over a hundred miles up the Humboldt. The Spanish claims, situated where the mines were first opened, were yielding $20,000 per day. Ground is changing hands at from $20 to 100 per foot. The Meno Lake and Walker river country is rich in minerals, and hundreds are prospecting that region generally with good success. Ore is now being shipped to San Francisco for suchting from the different companies. Other companies are making arrangements to ship their ore as soon as animals can be paccured.

The ore sent yields from two to five thousand dollars per ton. Discoveries of gold hearing quartz are being made every day. Machinery of every description is on its way here for the purpose of crushing smelting.

Town property in different localities ranges high, many fire proof buildings are under construction; the population is increasing very fast, it is thought that in two months the population will be 50,000. Society is very bad. No laws for the collection of debts or the punishment of criminals. Murder and fights are of daily occurrence. Freights from California are very high; 25 to 30 cents per pound. Flour is now selling at $40 per hundred pounds. Lumber Is worth $300 per 1000 feet at some places in the mines, and other things are selling in proportion.

The telegraph line is now completed to Miller's station, and nu office will be opened at that point during the present week. Miller's is thirty miles east of this city, en route to Salt Lake, and in two weeks the line will be opened at that point duri

New York, April 14.—The Iribune's Washington correspondent says that, in accepting Mr. Pryor's challenge, Mr. Potter wrote to Mr. Lander saying he did not see any ground for a hostile meeting in so trifling a cause; he deprecated dueling, but, as there was an evident purpose to pursue him to that extremity, he accepted, with the bowle knife for the weapon; hence, while condemning the practice of dueling, he left that there was no alternative but to meet the necessity in the manner proposed. Mr. Lander stated this fact to Messrs. Keilt and Cheeseman when the neceptance was delivered. Mr. Potter also delivered to Col. Lander a private letter which probably had been prepared in expection of such a contingency. He recapitulated the causes of the quarrel, stated that he regarded the causes of the quarrel, stated that he regarded the cause of free speech as inherent in his person and was determined to vindicate to the last extremity his own personal rights, as well as those of his constituents.

Such is the substance of his note, which may, or may not, be published. He and his friends regarded this whole difficulty as furnishing evidence of the settled purpose either to inimidate him into submission, or compel a resort to exposing life to unequal chances. The refusal of Mr. Pryor to meepin Col. Lander's voluntary cauthe accasions much contuent. He regarded the rejection of Mr. Potter's terms, and file language accompanying it, as a reflection mon his principal, and, acting upon this precedent in the Graves and Cilley ease, substituted himself.
